

Fall Reception for College Scholars

---

- Date: 4 November 2009
- Where: Browsing Room of the Knight Library
(between the two main entrances of the Quad)
- Time: 6 to 7:30 pm

The Occasion:

This fall marks the seventh or 'sabbatical' year of the CAS Scholars Program, a time to celebrate and to reflect.

We will do more of the former...celebrate... and somewhat less of the latter on this occasion. It will be a time for faculty and students, past and present, to meet and socialize outside the classroom. Of course there will be light refreshments served.

To celebrate the occasion, Dave Frohnmayer, president emeritus, and Jim Bean, the provost will join us. Also present will be Jim and Shirley Rippey who provided the gift that established the program. Jim and Shirley graduated from the UO in the 1950s and have been major supporters of undergraduate education at the UO. Both very much enjoy meeting and talking to undergraduates. We do ask you on the occasion to introduce yourselves and to tell them about yourselves and your participation in the program.

This is the "academy" and that means there will be some short speeches, but we plan to keep the formal agenda short so that we all have ample time to talk and listen to one another.

We hope to see you there.
